COMPANY K, 14TH INFANTRY, McKEESPORT, PA.

DR. HERBERT S. ARTHUR, MAYOR OF McKEESPORT,

Who is Deeply Interested in the Welfare of Colonel McKee's Fourteenth Infantry.

Though young in age, Company K, of the Fourteenth Infantry, is proving a very healthy unit of the National Guard and is beyond question one of the most valuable acquisitions to the service in many years. The officers and men of the Company are keenly interested in their work, and it is but a matter of time before the organization becomes one of the most efficient in the State.

The Company fortunately possesses every qualification for success. The officers are men of experience, and several saw actual service in the Philippines with the "Fighting Tenth" Infantry. The personnel of the men is above the average and the esprit de corps speaks most auspiciously for the future of the Company. McKeesport is an excellent location for a military company. The city is a real industrial centre, with a decided cosmopolitan population, and its leading citizens are well disposed towards the militia as the direct representation of American institution. The Company stands for peace and security in the community, and thus has the moral support of all patriotic citizens.

Company K had its origin chiefly through the efforts of Dr. W. D. Fawcett and C. E. Barger, two well known citizens, at a dinner given to Colonel Blackstone at Pitts' Hotel. Dr. H. S. Arteium suggested the letter of the organization, and the unit was termed Alliquippa Guards in honor of the company from McKeesport which participated so valiantly in the Civil War. The Company was mustered into the State service on August 29th, 1911.

The nucleus was found in the Army and Navy Rifle Club, which for years won distinction for McKeesport at many ranges. This club was composed of some of the best shots in the State and secured a large number of championships and many trophies during its brilliant career.

The Army and Navy Club of McKeesport affiliated with the National Rifle Association and was responsible for the several members of the military spirit in McKeesport. Many of the members were enrolled in Company I, Eighteenth Regiment, Captain Robert G. Woodside commanding, for the benefit of the rifle practice, but as the men had to travel to Pittsburgh, many urged that a Company of Infantry be organized at home. Later the matter was talked over with Dr. W. D. Fawcett in his office. He proposed that it be taken up with Colonel Blackstone, of the Fourteenth Regiment. Colonel McKee, now commanding the Fourteenth Regiment, Captain Robert G. Woodside, now Major of the Eighteenth, who contributed valuable aid, Dr. W. D. Fawcett and C. E. Barger took the lead towards the formation of a company in McKeesport. A meeting was called in the Chamber of Commerce rooms and the plan to organize a company was put up to the men who now compose the body of the unit and adopted.

Among those who attended this meeting and who are now members of the Company are: Captain William J. Best, Sergeant James I. Richardson, Sergeant W. H. Hinchman, Sergeant Thomas F. Bickerton, Corporal Calvin J. Brown, Company Clerk E. N. McMichael, Musicians Carlton Bentz and Morrell R. Stern, C. E. Barger and Dr. W. D. Fawcett. In addition there were also present Major H. S. Authurs, Commissioner J. D. O'Neil, Major William Nazel, Captain Thomas F. Wiley, Captain J. T. Armstrong, Captain Robert G. Woodside, M. R. Smith, Andrew Oberley and Captain C. C. Fawcett.

The Army and Navy Rifle Club members who so well assisted in the formation of the Company were:

President, Thomas T. Whylie; Vice President, W. J. Best; Secretary, Carlton Bentz; Financial Secretary, P. W. H. Wetzel; Band Master, C. E. Barger; Assistant Band Master, C. J. Brown, J. T Armstrong, Ray Armstrong, Robert Krenson, J. D. O'Neil, J. B. Hershey, Leroy W. Cannon, E. W. Scott, Dr. H. S. Ballard, James I. Richardson, Morrell Stern, Thomas Bickerton, S. T. Hershberger, M. R. Smith, E. N. McMichael, William Taylor, Harold Lewis, R. W. Dowdy, John Lowry, W. H. Coleman, Andrew Oberley, Thomas Potts, Gus Levine, James B. Warren.

The Grand Army veterans who also participated in the movement were Captain C. C. Fawcett, J. K. Spangler, J. McKelvey, Daniel Gould, R. R Reynolds, Dr. H. H. Hinchman, and R. L. Williamson.

The officers of Company K are Captain William J. Best, First Lieutenant Edward C. Thorne, Second Lieutenant William D. Fawcett. The Company quarters are located at the Ninth Avenue Rink

McKeesport has, throughout her history, been renowned for the patriotism of her citizens. This was particularly well demonstrated at the outbreak of the Civil War, when her sons were among the very first to offer their services to the nation. Some three years previous a military company, known as the Alliquippa Guards, had been organized in the town, and had been well drilled under the direction of the officers, who included Captain Christian Snyder, First Lieutenant Fred Shaum and Second Lieutenant George Hast. On the very day following the firing on Fort Sumter, April, 1861, the officers wired Governor Curtin, at Harrisburg, tendering the services of the company. Governor Curtin replied immediately: "Service accepted; come at once." The Company was prompt to respond. The ladies of McKeesport hastily arranged a patriotic farewell for the departing soldiers, and presented the company with perhaps the first flag of the State or nation during the war. The men left McKeesport on the morning of April 17, and after reaching Harrisburg were assigned as Company K, Fourteenth Pennsylvania Volunteers, forming part of General James F. Negley's Brigade. They went into camp at Bunker Hill, Va., shortly afterwards, and participated under General Patterson in the Battle of Bull Run. The Company was mustered out on August 23, 1861, on account of the expiration of the three months term of service, but most of the men enlisted in other commands and served throughout the Civil War.

The patriotic zeal of McKeesport did not end, however, with the departure of the Alliquippa Guards for the front. When Governor Curtin, foreseeing the immensity of the struggle between the rival sections, asked for a reserve force of fifteen regiments, to be known as the Pennsylvania Reserves, McKeesport hastened to furnish a full company, which afterwards became Company I, Ninth Regiment. The Company organization was completed in May, 1861, and was quickly armed and rushed to the National Capitol, which was threatened with capture in the dark days of the first year of the war. The men participated in many famous engagements, and upon the expiration of their three years' term of enlistment, on May 13, 1864, were mustered out of the service at Pittsburgh.

Another company for the aid of the Union was organized still later in the summer, at a meeting held at Alliquippa Hall, on August 12, 1861, when sixty-one young men of the town enrolled their names as volunteers. Two days later, as members of Company I, Sixty-third Pennsylvania Volunteers, they left on the steamer Bayard for Camp Wilkins, near Pittsburgh. James F. Ryan, the unanimous choice for Captain, was in command.

Within a week after enlisting, the volunteers were mustered into the Federal service and sent in box cars to Washington. There they underwent a number of privations and slept on the ground, without tents or coverings, during a heavy rainfall. They saw service in Virginia for the next three years and at the expiration of their term of enlistment, were mustered out on September 19, 1864. Those of the company re-enlisting as veterans were transferred and sent to the One Hundred and Fifth Pennsylvania Volunteers.

During the Spanish-American War, a large number of men from McKeesport served under the flag. They were attached to a number of organizations, and notably so to the Fighting Tenth from Pennsylvania, which rendered such brilliant service in the Philippines.

The city of McKeesport to-day is one of the most progressive communities in the country. It began its career as an Indian village, and later became a frontier settlement, David McKee, after whom it is named, having located there shortly before the Revolutionary War. The town made steady progress for more than a century, but during the two last decades, cast aside its swaddling clothes and assumed the dignity of a great metropolitan centre. More than $200,000,000 are invested in its enterprises; it owns water works, has all of the conveniences of great cities, and, better than all, has a greater future awaiting her.

The success of the McKeesport company has been due to a great degree to the friendly interest in the organization taken by Major James E. King, of the Fourteenth Infantry. Major King has long been identified with the National Guard and for years was an unusually successful company commander. He is splendidly equipped with executive abilities, and is an officer of promise. Major King in civil life is an official of the Firth-Sterling Steel Company, of McKeesport.

Captain William J. Best has clearly demonstrated his ability as a company commander. He is a veteran of the Spanish-American War, and for years was a Sergeant of Company I, of the Eighteenth Regiment. He is most efficient as the head of the company, holding a strong grip on the affection of his men by combining kindness with firmness The company has shown great development under his guidance, and will undoubtedly progress to an even higher standard in the future.

Lieutenant Edward C. Thorne rendered excellent service in the Spanish-American War and is an officer with sterling qualifications. He is devoted to his work and his zeal has contributed much towards the development of the unit.

Second Lieutenant William B. Fawcett is one of the leading dentists of Allegheny county. He comes of military ancestry, and has long been a leader in the affairs of the Sons of Veterans. He is a valuable acquisition to the National Guard.

Captain Henry H. Doan, Medical Corps, N. G. P.

No one will dispute with me that printer's ink deserves the credit of educating the world; but the man behind the gun is the fellow who supplies the press with the material to satisfy the maw of those eager to profit by the experiences and researches of others.

If we are to place any credence in the statements of the Regular Army officers who have been detailed to observe the work of the National Guardsmen of the States, Pennsylvania has much to be proud of, and I have no reason to believe these gentlemen, representing the War Department, are given to flattery.

Roughly estimating, the National Guard of Pennsylvania has 600 commissioned officers on the roster of the active list. These gentlemen were selected because of their fitness for the positions they hold, and yet how rarely we hear from them; how seldom they add to the world's store of knowledge by contributing to literature articles upon some of the good lessons they have learned by practical experience. All of us should, and doubtless would profit by the tests, new methods, or innovations they have devised and given trial; indeed, advising us of mistakes made, would act as a warning and prevent similar blunders. Some may recall General Clement's request at the last meeting of the National Guard Association at Pittsburgh. He said: "I should be pleased to hear from some of the unsuccessful captains!"

I would not advise any one to rush into print unless he really has something of value to tell his brother officers; but it would be rather difficult to convince me that every year a colonel or a company commander has not hit upon a plan, or conceived some idea that would prove of value to those of us interested in this soldier business.

The mail bags of the editors of magazines, representing the various professions, are overflowing with contributions from enthusiastic men eager to help others with the results of personal experiences and investigations. The officers of the Regular service furnish ample material for several journals.

NON-COMMISSIONED OFFICERS, COMPANY K, FOURTEENTH INFANTRY.

EXPERT TEAM, COMPANY K, FOURTEENTH INFANTRY

Should a Colonel in our Pennsylvania Militia think he has worked out a plan to encourage enthusiasm, or promote more esprit de corps in his official family and down the Line, let us hear from him. Should one of our company commanders hit upon a happy scheme to get the men out to the drills and encourage enlistments, he should tell us about it. Should a commissary, a quartermaster or a surgeon discover a more direct and practical method of solving some heretofore vexing problem, it should be published, and spread broadcast, that all of us may be benefited.

Surely some of these 600 gentlemen could, if they only would, make many valuable contributions to our store of military knowledge. To Pennsylvania's 600 sturdy sons of Mars, let me tell you, tradition informs us that the pen is mightier than the sword. Other cavalry has performed as heroic deeds as the Light Brigade; but it needed Tennyson's pen to make that charge immortal; so while the sabres are resting, mount a Pegasus, draw your trusty pens and thrusting them into the ink, hope that some future poet may perpetrate you in memory as did Tennyson, Lord Cardigan's men on the plain of Balaklava.

"When can their glory fade?
O the wild charge they made!
All the world wonder'd.
Honor the charge they made!
Honor the Light Brigade,
Noble six hundred!"

BULLETIN OF MILITIA NOTES.

September 16, 1912.

Attention is invited to General Orders, No. 26, War Department, current series, which prescribes in detail the necessary measures to be taken to insure proper fitting of shoes for field service. In order to insure proper measurements, the foot measure and tape furnished upon requisition by the Quartermaster's Departmnet should be issued to all organizations to whom marching shoes are supplied. It is believed that a careful observance of the provisions of this order will obviate to a degree any difficulty encountered in obtaining and fitting shoes suitable for field service.

With a view to minimizing the deterioration due to field service of small arms and equipage for organizations participating in field exercises, it is the desire of the War Department that steps be taken to insure the cleaning of small arms actually used in field exercises. Reports from inspectors indicate that frequently small arms are stored without being properly cleaned or oiled and suffer damage thereby.

Attention is again invited to the provisions of paragraph 86, Bulletin of May 16, 1912, and paragraph 98, Bulletin of July 16, 1912, which require the specific authority of the Secretary of War before the expenses of teams participating in inter-state competitions can be met from Federal funds. Not only does this apply to the teams themselves, but to such team officers, range officers, and other officials as may be present. Where an inter-state competition is projected, the whole scheme should be submitted to the War Department for the requisite authority, which will, in each case, specify exactly the conditions under which the competition can be carried out, as a charge against Federal appropriations.

Decision of the Secretary of War, dated August 9, 1912:

When an incorrect command is given at drill, unless the command is meaningless, the will of the commander will be executed if it is physically possible to do so. The premeditated use of incorrect commands is prohibited.

Preparation of Reports of Small-Arms Firing (Form No. 15, D. M. A.)

1. In view of the fact that certain changes have been made in Special Course "C" for the Organized Militia, in Circular No. 3, Division of Militia Affairs, March 6, 1912, the following modifications will be made by suitable alterations on Form No. 15, Division of Militia Affairs, Report of Small-Arms Firing:

(a) The average strength, present and absent, will be omitted.

(b) Fourth-class men are all who have fired the marksman's course and failed to qualify as third-class or better.

(c) The figure of merit to be computed as set forth in Circular No. 3, Division of Militla Affairs, 1912.

(d) Officers and enlisted men who have not fired on the range, or have not shot at least once through the marksman's course, will not be included in the report, or in the computation of the figure of merit.

CAPTAIN CHARLES SPANGLER,
A Prominent Veteran of Allentown.

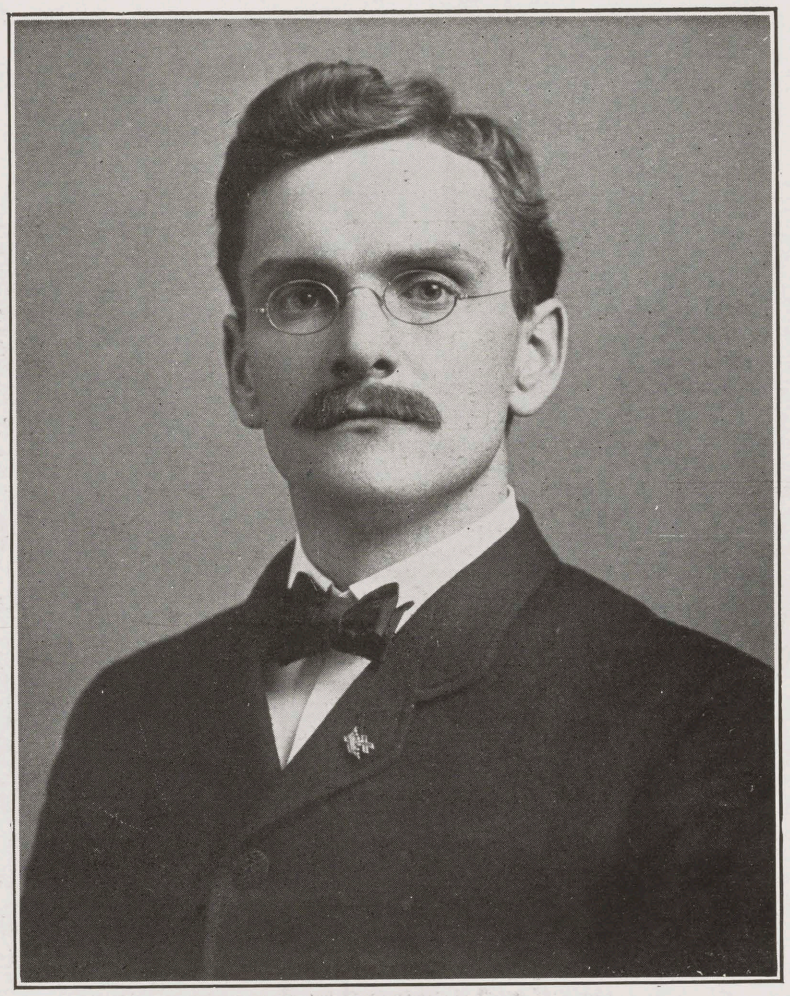
Captain Charles Spangler, who had an excellent record of service in the National Guard, is a native Pennsylvanian, having been born at Williamsburg, Blair county, on December 4, 1859.

He was the son of William and Susan (Heimbach) Spangler. His father was a skilled wheelwright, and later partner in the foundry and machine works, under the firm name of Barber & Company. His mother was the daughter of David Heimbach, well-known as operator of the first charcoal furnaces of Eastern Pennsylvania. The family removed to Alientown, Pa., when the subject of this sketch was less than a year old. Captain Spangler, as a boy, attended the public schools of Allentown.

After serving at the machinist trade, he established, in 1881, the machine and foundry business, which he is still actively pursuing, and which was conducted while he was away during the Spanish War.

Captain Spangler was at the head of Company D, Fourth Regiment, at the opening of the Spanish War in 1898. Practically his entire company enlisted for the conflict, and it was one of the first companies to be mustered in the U. S. Service, on May 9, 1898. The company was at Chickamaugua, Georgia, for a time, and then entrained at Rossville for Newport News, to form part of the Porto Rican expedition aboard the City of Washington. It was the first company of the regiment to land at Arroyo, and with the First Battalion on the Cayey Road on the morning of August 13, 1898, as support to a Missouri Battery, and were ready for the command to begin hostilities when a messenger arrived announcing that a peace protocol had been signed suspending hostilities. The company remained in camp at Gauyama with regular duties of outpost during the rest of the month, marching to Ponce on September 1, where it embarked on board the City of Chester, and sailed to New York. Returning home, a two-months' furlough was granted and November 16, 1898, was mustered out of the U. S. service. The company reorganizing as Company D, Fourth Regiment, Captain Spangler was again elected, and served until January 20, 1905, when he resigned. During his service he participated in all active duties incidental to the call out of the troops for the industrial disturbances at Homestead and in the coal regions.

Captain Spangler is a charter member of George H. Schwartz Camp, No. 2, United Spanish War Veterans. He was elected Department Commander of United Spanish War Veterans of Pennsylvania, in 1904. The National Convention of this order at St. Louis by resolution ratified the choice.



LIEUTENANT THEODORE C. FEGLEY,
Medical Corps.

Lieutenant Theodore C. Fegley, Quartermaster and Commissary, Fourth Infantry, is an excellent type of the efficient National Guard officer. He is one of the leading physicians of Schuylkill county and is much esteemed by the residents of that section. Lieutenant Fegley entered the Guard from civil life as Second Lieutenant of Company G, Fourth Infantry, at Pine Grove, and with Captain Sheidy succeeded in bringing the company up to a high standard of efficiency. Lieutenant Fegley was born in Schuylkill county on July 2, 1876, and was the oldest son of Perry W. Fegley. He attended the public school at Orwigsburg, East Stroudsburg Normal School, and after his graduation studied medicine in the office of Dr. A. H. Halberstadt for two years. He then entered the Medical Department of the University of Pennsylvania, graduated from this time-honored institution in 1899 with the degree of Doctor of Medicine. He served as interne for fourteen months in the Pottsville Hospital, after which he took up his residence and general practice at Tremont. He is prominently identified with all of the Masonic bodies in Schuylkill county, and at present is the eminent commander of the Pottsville Commandery. In 1902 he served as Deputy Coroner of Schuylkill county. He married Miss Minerva Lamberson, of Tremont.

General Albert J. Logan should prove an excellent commander of the Second Brigade. Coupling enthusiasm with genuine ability, he demonstrated remarkable efficiency as the Colonel of the Eighteenth Infantry, and in every way raised the standard of that command. General Logan is ardent in his zeal for the militia, is a trained Guardsman, and is in every sense an ideal officer. The Journal is confident that his record will continue brilliant.

General Logan is a native of Allegheny county, where he was born on July 7, 1857. His ancestors were early pioneers of Western Pennsylvania. General Logan was educated in the public schools and at the Pennsylvania Military College, at Chester. He has been rarely successful as a manufacturer and is a prominent figure in the commercial and financial life of Pittsburgh.

General Logan entered the National Guard as a private in Company F, Eighteenth Regiment, in July, 1875, and served with his company during the railroad riots in Pittsburgh and the Luzerne county coal riots in 1877. He passed through the grades of Corporal and Sergeant and was transferred to Company G, of the same regiment, in December, 1877. He was appointed Sergeant November 16, 1878; First Sergeant, July 12, 1879; First Lieutenant August 5, 1880; Captain, March 17, 1881, and resigned September 8, 1882. On July 2, 1885, he was again elected Captain of Company G, and continued in that position until February, 1887. He was appointed Major and Quartermaster on the staff of Brigadier General John A. Wiley, of the Second Brigade, on March 5, 1891, and served at the industrial disturbances at Mt. Pleasant in 1891, Homestead in 1892, and at Punxsutawney, in 1894. Governor Hastings appointed him as Colonel and Quartermaster General upon his staff on January 29, 1895, and he served in that capacity in 1898, when he arranged for the prompt transportation and housing of the State troops at Mt. Gretna. On August 17, 1898, he was elected as Colonel of the Seventeenth Regiment, and on January 13, 1900, was assigned to duty on the staff of Governor William A. Stone. He served as Colonel and Commissary General on the staff of Governor Samuel W. Pennypacker and was re-appointed to the same position on the staff of Governor Edwin S. Stuart. On May 17, 1909, he was elected Colonel of the Eighteenth Infantry. General Logan has for years been one of the active spirits of the Armory Board of the State, and has likewise been prominently identified with the National Guard Association, of which he is a former president.

The Sixth Regiment is to be congratulated upon the unanimous choice of Colonel Thomas Biddle Ellis as its new commander. Colonel Ellis has always been an enthusiast in military matters and has successfully mastered the various details of line and field work. He is an officer of practical experience and is also well read in military literature. He is an excellent choice for the command and is sure to bring the Sixth Infantry to the fore ranks of the Guard.

Major Lewis L. Tafel, who has been chosen as a battalion commander to succeed Colonel Ellis, has demonstrated his worth as a company commander of unusual ability. He has been in the service for many years, is very popular, and his promotion reflects much credit upon the judgment of the company officers.

It is pleasant to note that a Philadelphia Judge recently turned down an application for a charter for a so-called independent military organization. In rendering his opinion he took occasion to say that such associations were practically rebellious to constituted authority and should be discouraged. The Judge had the courage of his convictions and his stand deserves the support of the entire Guard.

The highest commendation is due the United Gas Improvement Company for the recent action of its Board of Directors in authorizing that regular payments of salaries be made to all employees, who are members of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, while serving during the annual encampment or other duties in the field. This decision has particular reference to the officers and members of Company B, of the Second Infantry, under command of Lieutenant Lloyd R. Blynn. The resolution of the corporation establishes a new precedent in Pennsylvania.

The directors of the U. G. I. Company show that they are public spirited, patriotic business men, and appreciate the sacrifices made by the officers and men constituting the State military forces.

It is a known fact that Mr. Bodine, the President, Mr. Doutrith, Fourth Vice President, and Major Dolan have always had a deep and keen interest in the welfare of the National Guard. The action taken by this company is a pleasant surprise, however, and will serve as an encouragement to the officers and men.

It is earnestly hoped that other great corporations throughout the Commonwealth will follow in the steps of the Philadelphia concern and demonstrate their interest in the Guard in a like practical manner.

The retirement of Brigadier General Willis J. Hulings means the loss to the service of an officer of unusual distinction. General Hulings was long identified with the National Guard. He possessed unusual qualifications as a leader of men, and he clearly demonstrated his abilities in various capacities. He was pronounced in his loyalty to the National Guard, and through his special zeal several of the most important measures for the better care of the troops came to pass. The Journal is confident that his retirement will in no way lessen his love for the State service.

General Hulings was born in Clarion county on July 1, 1850. He was educated as a civil engineer and later studied law and was admitted to the bar.

General Hulings entered the National Guard as a private in 1876, served in the grades of Corporal, Sergeant, Lieutenant, and Major. In 1887, he was elected Colonel of the Sixteenth Infantry and was re-elected in 1892, 1897, 1902, and 1907. He served in the field during the railroad riots of 1877, the Homestead riots of 1892, the Jefferson county riots of 1893, and the anthracite riots of 1902. The regiment was mustered into the United States service on May 10, 1898, and on May 17 following, General Hulings assumed command of the Third Brigade, First Division, First Army Corps.

General Hulings, however, preferred active service with his own regiment, and obtaining leave sailed with the Sixteenth Infantry, from Charleston, S. C., to Porto Rico, on July 22. He reached Ponce six days later and at once went into action. He participated in the various engagements of the Porto Rican campaign and for his brilliant services at the battle of Coamo on August 9, 1898, was promoted to be Brigadier General of Volunteers 'for gallant and meritorious conduct." He returned to the State service after its reorganization and was appointed Brigadier General in command of the Second Brigade on August 28, 1909.

General Hulings was a member of the State Legislature, serving in both the Senate and the House, and was sponsor for many bills for the welfare of the Guard. He was particularly active in support of appropriations for State armories, the establishment of regimental bands, and the separation of the medical department from the line. General Hulings has for years been a staunch advocate of pay for attendance at drills.

NOTES

A movement is now on foot to organize a Company of Infantry in Nazareth, to be attached to the Fourth Regiment. Lieutenant Harry J. D. Reusswig, of Company G, Third Infantry, is at the head of the project and can easily tender the State an Infantry Company of seventy-five men. The company would have a splendid nucleus in twenty graduates of the Nazareth Hall Military College, of which Lieutenant Reusswig is the Military Instructor. Mr. Schaefer, the Nazareth postmaster, is also deeply interested in the project, and John A. Miller, president of the Dexter Portland Cement Company, and J. A. Horner, president of the Nazareth Cement Company, have likewise expressed their approval of the movement and have promised to give it their moral and practical support. Lieutenant Reusswig is a West Point man with rare executive ability and thoroughly familiar with the present day military matters. While the Third Regiment would be reluctant to lose him, he would undoubtedly be most welcome in Colonel O'Neill's Fourth Infantry.

Inspector General Colonel Frank G. Sweeney, in speaking of the inspections at the recent tour of duty at Gettysburg, stated that in all his military experience he had never inspected a regiment for which he had more admiration than Colonel O'Neill's Fourth Infantry, notwithstanding the deplorable weather conditions, and in many cases the companies were lined up ankle deep in mud, he found every rifle to be in first-class condition and the uniforms spick and span. The appearance of the regiment was almost beyond criticism. Many officers believe that Colonel O'Neill will lead the infantry units of the State this year. Comment was also made as to the able manner in which Colonel O'Neill handled the brigade while in command during the illness of General Coryell.

Colonel James E. Barnett, of the Fighting Tenth Infantry, which rendered such brilliant service in the Philippines, has been elected a member of the Pennsylvania Commandery, The Naval and Military Order of the Spanish American War. Others admitted to membership in the commandery are Second Lieutenant Jesse R. Fifer, U. S. V., Second Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, Washington, D. C.; Ensign John Henry Gill, U. S. N., U. S. S. "Connecticut;" First Lieutenant Walter S. Brown, U. S. V., Third Regiment, Missouri Engineers, Bethlehem, Pa.; Lieutenant Lewis Coxe, U. S. N., Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md.; Second Lieutenant Charles F. Sentz, U. S. V., Second Regiment, West Virginia Infantry, Clifton Forge, Va.; Lieutenant Louis James Connelly, U. S. N., Navy Department, Washington, D. C.; Captain John Strauss, U. S. N., Navy Department, Washington, D. C., and Lieutenant Commander and Paymaster George Richard Venable, U. S. N., U. S. S. "Delaware."

Troop H, of Coraopolis, had a most successful tour of duty with the Fifteenth United States Cavalry, at Mt. Gretna, during the recent maneuvers. A full troop was present, and Captain Charles C. McGovern had every reason to be proud of his men at their first camp. The mounts were splendid and the troop bids fair to be one of the leaders in the State.

Two officers of the United States Government of high rank recently visited Mt. Gretna and declared the State reservation to be the finest site in Pennsylvania for maneuvers. So enthusiastic were the officers, in fact, that it is reported that they have recommended the purchase of 10,000 acres in Lebanon county as a camp site for the War Department. While Gettysburg has been mentioned from time to time as a permanent camp for the Government and State Troops, it is now believed that the Federal authorities would not permit any further maneuvering on the sacred soil of the battlefield, but will avail itself of the opportunity to acquire a new, large tract of ground which is declared to be one of the most accessible and best fitted for the purpose in the State.

All the officers in the Naval Force who could arrange to do so have joined the North Atlantic Fleet for target practice. They will remain away until September 29. Regular battle tactics will be employed in taking position before the targets, and the conditions of warfare will be simulated as nearly as possible.

The Lamberton National Bank, of Franklin, which recently opened its new building, is fortunate in its occupancy of one of the finest equipped business structures in the State. The Lamberton Bank has for more than a half century been a leader in progressive ideas. Robert Lamberton, the founder, was one of the early pioneers of the oil regions. The new building is a model in modern bank structure. It is built almost entirely of granite, marble, concrete, and steel, and is thoroughly fire-proof. The interior presents the appearance of dignified elegance, and is in every way a credit to the officers of the institution.

The field and staff of the Fourth Infantry attended the Old Home Week celebration at Marietta, on September 5, and had a royal time. Those present included Colonel C. T. O'Neill, Lieutenant Colonel M. L. Case, Major E. C. Shannon, Major P. E. Sheidy, Captain and Adjutant H. A. Reninger, Captain and Commissary W. E. Rehm, Major and Surgeon G. F. Potteiger, Lieutenant and Assistant Surgeon E. H. Dickenshield, Lieutenant and Assistant Surgeon S. H. Heller, First Lieutenant and Battalion Adjutant C. Bernheizel, Second Lieutenant and Battalion Adjutant G. C. Allison, Second Lieutenant and Battalion Adjutant A. C. Jenvey, and Second Lieutenant and Battalion Adjutant T. C. Fegley. Companies K, of Lancaster, and C, of Columbia, participated in the parade. After the procession Colonel O'Neill and the staff, and likewise Colonel H. L. Haldeman, Commissary General, and Lieutenant Earl G. Paules, Engineer Corps, U. S. A., tendered the marching salute to Lieutenant Colonel Simon B. Cameron, former Division Commissary. The visitors were entertained in the evening by Lieutenant Colonel James Duffy and Mr. Bernard Meyers.

The Naval Force will be represented at the fleet rendezvous to be held at New York in October. The command will man one of the battleships stationed at League Island Navy Yard, and will be absent from Philadelphia for about five days. This will be the greatest rendezvous ever held in America.

Non-commissioned Officer:

Replying to your inquiry as to the qualifications necessary to hold a commission in the Naval Force of Pennsylvania, you must be a naturalized American citizen and have attained your majority.

The mental examination will include the following named subjects:

Arithmetic, Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry, American History, World's History, Geography, English Grammar, Rhetoric, Astronomy, Navigation, Ordnance, Gunnery, Seamanship, Marine Engineering and Constitutional Law.

In the August issue of the Journal it was reported that Captain E. Lowry Humes, Adjutant of the Sixteenth Infantry, had contemplated retirement from the service. Colonel Rickards, in a recent communication, advises us that we were misinformed. The Journal is pleased to note Colonel Rickard's comment.

Thomas Carlyle's Definition of Man:

"Nevertheless he can use tools, can devise tools. With these, the granite mountain melts into light dust before him. He kneads glowing iron as if it were soft paste. Seas are his smooth highway, winds and fire his unwearying steeds. Nowhere do you find him without tools. Without tools he is nothing. With tools he is all."

IT'S A MISTAKE

TO think training isn't a factor—a very important factor—in taking proper care of one's future. Many people have money left to them but lack the special training needed to properly care for it it gets away.

If YOU expect to have money left to you later on in life you will need training in order to be able to give your interests the vigilant care they will demand if you are to hold your own or build for a larger success.

This training is only acquired by actual practice. No other method for gaining it is so good, so business-like, so safe as the Bank Account method.

Start YOUR training NOW by coming in and opening an account with us—one dollar will get you started—add to it as you can.
